Product Description

Structural Characteristics:

Honeycomb Mesh Structure: The laundry sheets feature a honeycomb mesh structure, which provides them with superior adsorption capabilities. This allows them to effectively and quickly absorb and capture free active color particles, achieving the desired anti-bleeding effect.

Usage Method:

Application: Using anti-bleeding laundry sheets is simple. Just place them together with the laundry in the washing machine and proceed with the regular washing cycle. The sheets dissolve upon contact with water and can be used for both handwashing and machine washing.

Dosage: Typically, one sheet is sufficient for washing 3-4 kilograms of laundry.

Additional Features:

Antibacterial and Anti-mite Properties: Besides their anti-bleeding function, some laundry sheets may also possess antibacterial and anti-mite properties. This is achieved through the presence of cationic polymers in the composition, which can disrupt the normal activities of harmful organisms through cationic-anionic reactions, leading to their elimination.

Precautions

One-time Use: It is recommended to discard the laundry sheets after each use rather than reusing them, as their adsorption capabilities may decrease after adsorbing dyes.
